Day 3: Denali Wilderness Walking Tour

$235CAD (2 hours, departs in the afternoon)

Return to Denali National Park and take an in-depth, walking tour focused on the park's flora and fauna. Your walk will be led by a naturalist guide who will point out various landmarks and talk about Alaska's geology and glacial history. Walk through boreal forests and discover how plants and animals have adapted to the extreme sub-arctic climate. As you explore the landscapes the local animals call home, you'll gain a new perspective for this region's natural beauty. This excursion requires advance reservation and must be booked at least 20 days prior to departure.

Day 6: Alaska Native Heritage Center

$175CAD (3 hours, departs in the afternoon)

Pay a visit to the Alaska Native Heritage Center, where you'll join a local guide to learn about Alaska's indigenous cultures. The center aims to share and preserve the stories of the local indigenous people. Six traditional villages sit along the shore of Lake Tiulana, and you'll visit one of the villages to get an authentic look into the lifestyles and traditions of Alaska's native people. From the Athabascan to the Tsimshian people, you'll learn about the many artforms that define each of these unique indigenous groups. These artforms include everything from songs and dances, to games and dress. After your tour, enjoy free time to explore the Hall of Cultures and shop for artwork created by native Alaskan artisans. Then, sit down for dinner at a local restaurant before returning to your hotel. This excursion requires advance reservation and must be booked at least 20 days prior to departure.

Day 7: Kenai Fjords National Park: Exit Glacier Hike

$105CAD (3 hours, departs in the afternoon)

Exit Glacier is one of the main attractions in Kenai Fjords National Park and today you'll set off on a moderately strenuous hike along Exit Glacier Trail to enjoy wide-ranging views of this incredible site. The well-maintained loop trail will take you past forests, streams, and of course, Exit Glacier. The glacier is part of a naturally carved valley within Harding Icefield and marks the spot where expeditionists exited after crossing the icefield for the first time. As you follow a naturalist guide on the hike, keep your eyes peeled for owls, magpies, mountain goats, and more. End the day with a visit to the Exit Glacier Nature Center where you can view exhibits about the glacier, shop at the Alaska Geographic bookstore, and chat with a ranger about the national park. This excursion is dependent on the weather. This excursion requires advance reservation and must be booked at least 20 days prior to departure.
