$199CAD (6 hours, departs in the afternoon, dinner included)

Since opening its doors in 1920, Carmel Market has cemented itself as an integral part of Tel Aviv's history and culture. Start the evening at a cooking school to meet experienced chefs and learn what you'll be whipping up this evening. Then, head to the famous market. You'll pick up the ingredients you need for your recipe while interacting with vendors and learning about the flavors essential to Israeli cooking. After, make your way back to the school and start cooking alongside the chefs. This excursion requires advance reservation and must be booked at least 20 days prior to departure.

Tonight, join a local chef for a cooking class where you'll learn to make several Levantine mezzes and a soup. Levantine cuisine features food from the Levant, a large geographical area encompassing countries in the eastern Mediterranean region. The culinary traditions in Jordan, Syria, Israel, Lebanon, and more meshed together to create modern Levantine cuisine. Mezzes are the most popular type of Levantine food. These small, shareable dishes are perfect to enjoy with friends. Some local favorites include baba ghanoush (an eggplant-based dip), sfiha (an open-faced minced meat sandwich), and ka'ak (a donut-shaped biscuit). You'll use fresh, local ingredients to craft your mezzes. Then, sit down to enjoy the food you prepared for dinner.
